SUSTAINABILITY MANAGEMENT

Sustainability Management

The wide variety of products and services emerging as a result of the developments in software technologies guide today's modern world. With innovative solutions, our aim is to develop sustainable business models in support of economic growth and profitability.

Logo invests in software technologies with the awareness that these technologies have a greater importance for sustainable development. Within the company we have set sustainability management rules in 2017 to become more sustainable and to create maximum value for our customers. These rules concern the management and improvement potentials of all the issues related to the sustainability, including Business Ethics, Occupational Health and Safety and Environmental Sustainability.

Members of the Sustainability Committee are responsible for the sustainability issues. The Committee, within its authority, determines the required actions to be taken, sets goals concerning sustainability issues and determines the needs for the processes of implementation, rules, communication, monitoring, and auditing.

The Audit Committee's findings and recommendations on compliance with the legislations and internal regulations and the report on Code of Ethics, Occupational Health and Safety and other sustainability issues are included in the Board of Directors' report. Matters that require the knowledge or approval of the Board of Directors are submitted by the Group Committee, and the matters approved by the Board of Directors are implemented within the assigned authority and duties.

Ethics Management

Ethical issues are prominent in the industry of software technology. Embracing the ideal of conducting business ethically as one of the foundation stones of its corporate culture, Logo is included in the Corporate Governance Index of BIST, which includes companies implementing corporate governance principles.

Logo's Business Ethics Policy adopts the Corporate Governance Principles, and regulates the relations with employees, suppliers, customers, shareholders and other stakeholders and the public. Logo's Code of Ethics is based on the principles of honesty, sense of responsibility and respect for rights. Logo is aware of the importance of corporate responsibility for contributing to the economic and social life as well as its role in development, and creates value for the whole society by emphasizing economic and social development.
